Council Member Velpula requested clarification regarding the rezoning from a single family residential to a neighborhood commercial. Assistant Community Development Director Leah Allison said the Class C-N was a mixed-use designation that provided a variety of permitted uses, including Short-Term Rentals and commercial office space. She described the property located at 331 NE Perry Avenue and the proposed plans presented by the property owner.

Discussions were held on increasing mixed-use zoning trends, possible uses of the building at 331 NE Perry Avenue after rezoning, and the unique location of the property that contributed to the decision of Community Development Staff to propose the mixed-use zoning designation.

Council Member Riggerbach said he supported the rezoning application as presented, noting he recently attended meetings with stakeholders regarding revitalization efforts of the area. He said this type of rezoning could be an appropriate thing to consider for other parcels as well.

At the conclusion of his comments, Council Member Riggerbach moved to adopt an Ordinance rezoning property from Class R-3 (Single Family Residential) District to Class C-N (Neighborhood Commercial) District for the property located at 331 NE Perry Avenue; seconded by Council Member Oyler.
